The revised blueprint put together after months of hickering between state and federal officials, calls for federal construction of the 511 million dollar Bridge Canyon project and 239 million dollar Marble Canyon hydroelectric project in Arizona.

Albert Jagels Steps Down From Ida Gem Director Post

JEROME, Jan. 15 — Albert Jagels has stepped down from the position of director of the Idaho Gem Association, after serving as president and member of the board of directors since 1942. Jagels' resignation was announced at the annual meeting of the Idaho Gem Association, which was held in the Jerome national guard armory and by noon an estimated 600 persons nearly filled the hall.

The meeting lasted most of the day. Members attended from Jerome, Turley, Rupert, Twin Falls and Buhi areas.

Jagels was honored for his service to the company and received a television set as a gift from the company.

Jagels was first associated with the Twin Falls Dairymen's Cooperative in 1923, which was part of the Jerome Cooperative Creamery. Shortly thereafter, the two companies were merged.

For the past 31 years he served as president of the creamery and he served during its transformation into the Idaho Gem Dairymen's, Inc.

Three directors were elected during the annual meeting: Jack Nelson was re-elected from the Jerome district. Tom Mahler was re-elected from the Minidoka district, and Cal Harper was elected from the Buhi district. This was Jagels' home district.

Featured speaker for the annual meeting was National Grange Master Herschel Newsome. Newsome spoke on many phases of agriculture.

Newsome addressed the assembly after a noon box luncheon, which was served by the company.

Four resolutions were presented to the general membership for consideration and adoption: One of the resolutions mustered a simple majority, a two-thirds majority is required under the by-laws of the company.

Most of the resolutions deal with suspension of membership. General Manager Lyons C. Smith announced that the government support price for milk would be the same for this year as it was last year.

The presentation of the annual report showed a decrease in butter production and a slight increase in cheese production. About seven million pounds of cheese were produced. This is "new high" for cheese production for the company.

The Lenten Story

THE PASSION IS PREDICTED

Passing through Galilee one day, Jesus told His disciples about the incredible events that lay ahead.

"The Son of Man is to be delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill Him; and after that He is killed, He shall rise the third day."

Thus, Christ predicted His own death and resurrection, but His followers did not understand. And, as Mark tells us, they were afraid to ask Him to shed further light on the dark and terrifying future.

Silly Trade
U. S. officials have reason to be alarmed over an apparent increase in trade with communist bloc nations. But to some extent, the growth in trade between the West and Russia. Let's not forget that huge shipments of U. S. wheat are going to Russia with the U. S. government paying an export subsidy. The grain deal makes it a little difficult to convince other nations they should engage in commerce with the communists.

This nation has been quite unsuccessful in shutting off trade between Cuba and U. S. allies. To the contrary, the trade seems to be growing. The British agreed to sell some 400 buses to Cuba; then other nations announced they would trade with Castro. Now the U. S. report plans to sell road-building equipment to Cuba and a pending deal to permit Russia to purchase fertilizer and other "non-strategic" chemical plants.

Britain's prime minister, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, has told President Lyndon Johnson that "England is willing to continue its trade with Cuba and the communist bloc. It's quite likely more and more nations will adopt the British attitude and there will be a race for the communist trade." Douglas-Home declared Britain must trade to survive.

But there's a sour note in the whole deal. Much of the communist trade is based on credit. If payment is not forthcoming, the creditors are far worse off than if they had decided to deal in the first place. It might not make much more sense, but it is not as understandable if Britain were trading with the communists and receiving cash on the barrelhead for all goods.

No one should ever forget that the communist goal is to overthrow the U. S. and its allies. If they are to succeed, they may differ on the means to attain that goal.

It's no secret that Russia has internal problems. Not the least of the problems is the failure of agriculture to produce sufficient food for Russia, let alone its satellites. Anything that helps solve Russia's internal problems brings just that much closer the time of showdown between Russia and the West.

Under these conditions, isn't it silly for any country of the West to help Russia toward its avowed goal? And support on credit?

FLYING IS SAFE
There should be more news items like the presentation of awards for Thursday evening for air safety records. Flying is safe, but unfortunately it's not possible to emphasize air safety enough. On the other hand, spectacular publicity is given to air accidents. The accident involving an airplane merely because of the nature of the accident.

WHIRLIGIG
BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—If you can't reach me at home today, I'll be out tearing down a Cuban flag or trampling on a Panamanian one. That seems to be the most effective way to conduct foreign relations these days, and I want to get in a lick for Cuba-Chilly-in opposition.

Seriously, I am tired of being pushed around by a peal of international ruckus and the threat in kicking me in the shin I plan to present them with a mouthful of shit. When ever Russia punches us in the ass, there have been no so-called knock over with a feather successfully in behaving toward us like vicious and unrespectful dogs.

Panama is still mulling that trouble about "American aggression" and in Panama's capital city of Acapulco, experts on government loudspeakers hauled down the American flag and threatened to storm the building. U. S. foreign policy continues to be an embarrassment to other people do to us; we never force them to react to some piece of initiative on our part.

IS DEFENSE 'AGGRESSION'? — We looked lousy on that vote in the Organization of American States (OAS) to invoke the Rio treaty and investigate Panama's charges of aggression against the U. S. Because the U. S. itself incredibly voted in favor, we could muster only one vote—Chilly—in opposition, and the thing went through 16-1.

Curiously, nobody in his right diplomatic mind believes the Rio treaty is the instrument for handling the defense of the Western Hemisphere. It is supposed to deal only with "clear and obvious" aggression, and all we did was to offend "American" citizens against Panama. OAS members, after voting to invoke it, went around hoping about to reporters that the move would not create precedent and would encourage other nations to react to the treaty to settle routine arguments.

HOW TO HANDLE MESS—Call me a nationalist in this Panama business and I'll preen with pleasure. I keep remembering how right the then Prime Minister Anthony Eden was in the fall of 1956 when he sent British troops, along with French and Israeli forces, against Egypt's Abdel Gamel Nasser.

I do not suggest we go to war with Panama. All we have to do is remember that Lyndon giving out the canal, and that if the Panama government incites its citizens to riot again we'll have to use force to put it down. It would be utter idleness at this point to abandon a piece of territory that we have without which Panama could not exist as a nation.

WE NEED AN EDEN—With an election coming, President Johnson may be remembering that Eden lost his job when the Egyptian invasion collapsed. But it would not have collapsed if the U. S. in one of the most flagrant examples of diplomatic falsehoods on record, had not joined Russia in denouncing the action and pulling out of the Suez Canal.

Eden was never a fool, which perhaps is the reason he was dealt with so unkindly by fate. Almost alone, he stood against appeasement of Hitler and Mussolini. He was overruled and overruled him by giving Mussolini everything the porcupine-dog wanted, his pig-his post-as a foreign minister and a world leader.

There is a need for an American Anthony Eden in this Panama mess—one who is not afraid, when his country is right, to say so in loud and ringing tones. Then, perhaps, they would stop kidding the American people with countries like China.

Views of Others
HOW FAR CAN WE GO
Col. John Glenn, astronaut, must enjoy riding in the wild blue yonder. He's got the strategy of a lion and the tactics of a fox. He'll be long until he will be convinced that Ohio politicians are thoroughly capable of giving him the support he needs.

We are impressed that John Glenn is a young man of ability, with a rich background of family and military service, and a fine sense of humor. He is also a national hero.

It's the latter fact that disturbs us. We've just heard that he is a Communist. That's what we want to know. Is he a Communist? Is he a Communist? Is he a Communist?

What they are complaining about is what has outraged housewives and shoppers for a long time. The price of goods is rising. The prices of goods are rising. The prices of goods are rising.

IF DIOR GOES TO MOSCOW
There's talk in Paris that the House of Dior and Moscow are negotiating a five-year contract for the production and sale of Dior garments in the Soviet Union.

If true, and if the deal goes through, it would be a triumph for communism and its monetary repression. High fashion and uniformity are sworn foes. It is to be expected that the height of fashion is to be a constant war on another about clothes, what they start getting original ideas from other things—clothes, for instance—Boudouk Star-Bulletin.

Interpreting the News

BY JAMES MARLOW
(Associated Press News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—President Johnson has a thin margin of support in the Senate, and it is already in the hands of the opposition. He called them "bellyachers," although the Democrats and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, in particular, have been Johnson critics.

Although Goldwater is openly seeking the nomination, Nixon, he is not a candidate. He is, at the same time, sounding more and more like one in his trips and speeches. He does say he'd accept a deal.

In that 1960 campaign, Nixon, after two years of being vice president, was in a political box. He had to defend the Eisenhower-Nixon foreign policy while the Democrats were to bang at it.

Johnson did his share of banging, although Kennedy did most of the talking. Now Johnson will have to defend his policy while Nixon is free to criticize.

In doing it now he sounds, in Nixon's words, "like a man who is one of those oddities in American politics—which must be made to fit the American scene."

Johnson and Nixon, judging from what they have said about each other, could hardly be called buddies.

Buhl Jaycees Oppose BPA For Idaho

BOULDER, Feb. 15.—The Buhl Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution opposing the Buhl Jaycees' power into Idaho.

The resolution adopted by the Jaycees states that expanding Bonville power into southern Idaho is an encroachment upon free enterprise.

The statement adds that government in business, depriving local taxing agencies of their tax revenue, should be prohibited.

The local group also urged that this expression of opposition be made known to Idaho's congressional delegation.

Plans also are being made by the local organization to make a community survey for suggestions from residents for projects which will lead to community improvement.

Ever see a Corvair wearing tire chains? Not likely. And it's not often you'll find a Corvair owner bothering to switch over to snow tires either.

Nearly 19 per cent more power in the standard version. Which is something you'll appreciate most any time of year, fair weather or foul.

White bisque busts of famous composers, white candles, white roses and white ensembles all added to the decor of the Twin Falls Federated Music club's annual White breakfast held at Kay's Supper club.

T.F. Music Club Has 14th Annual White Breakfast

The "Parade of American Music" at the annual White Breakfast, given by the T.F. Music Club, was proclaimed February as American Music Month. As well as the 29 Junior club, will feature American music.

The National Federation of Music Clubs has designed its own national White Breakfast to familiarize its members with the works of American composers and to give American composers a wider hearing, but to impress upon the whole American public that the United States has an indigenous musical culture equal to that of other countries.

The national club gives awards to local clubs who meet certain standards in their American music programs. The Twin Falls Music Club has won several of these awards, and last year's "Parade of American Music" program was a double award of merit. This year was presented at the breakfast.

The double ribbon is given for programs of unusual distinction which are particularly outstanding in the field of musical education, research, originality, organization and community cooperation.

The Twin Falls Federated Music Club is not an old organization in Twin Falls, by any means. It was the 14 years of its existence, its influence has been felt throughout Magic Valley.

The club was organized and became affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs, one of the largest organizations in the world whose chief interest is in the field of musical education.

Two of the most active local women in organizing the club were Mrs. Max Brown and Mrs. Charles Allen. Mrs. Brown was the first district president of this area and Mrs. Allen was elected first president of the local club.

Mrs. Brown served eight years on the state board of the Idaho Federated Music Club and was very active in promoting student and scholarship work.

There had been local music clubs from time to time in Twin Falls, but until the Federated Music Club was organized, talented Magic Valley students were unable to participate in auditions for scholarships offered by the state and national organizations.

The National Federation of Music Clubs—in its dedication to American youth, centers much of its attention to means for their musical education.

The auditions conducted by the Twin Falls Music Club discovered many talented young musicians and local members believe that scholarships stimulate intensive study by providing an immediate objective toward which students may work.

In 1957, the Music Club presented the first scholarship locally, and every year since, more and more scholarships have been offered by the club.

In 1951, the first Junior Music Club was organized by the Federated club. Mrs. Owen Brown was the first Junior club organizer.

Since that time the Junior club work has become an important activity of the senior club members, and now almost every school is represented with a Junior Music Club.

One of the activities of the club has been the record library.

MR. AND MRS. LARRY D. McAULEY

Judy W. Smith, McAuley Repeat Wedding Vows

JEROME, Feb. 15 — Yellow chrysanthemums formed the background setting for the wedding of Judy W. Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry D. McAuley, and Mr. John H. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McAuley.

In 1956, the Twin Falls Music Club held its first Junior Festival with 21 students participating. The festival has been held every year since, and Feb. 22 more than 300 students will participate. In the festival, students perform before well-qualified judges and are given comments and ratings. The experience of playing in a festival is a very rewarding one for the students.

Besides its work with young people, the Twin Falls Music Club has given a great deal in the culture of the community. It has sponsored the appearance of many out-of-town musical groups, the latest being bringing the full-length opera, "Madama Butterfly," presented here last November.

Twin Falls Music Club members have also given of their talents over the state. Mrs. Teala Bellini, an honorary member, and concert pianist and teacher, has presented exchange programs in Boise.

Other members have performed in other towns for Music Clubs. Mrs. Bernice Young served as state president of the Idaho Federated Music Club and Mrs. Marshall LeBaron is the current state president. Mrs. Wilkison is state treasurer and Mrs. Carlsson is president of the Idaho Federation of Music Clubs was founded.

The National Federation of Music Clubs was founded as a direct result of the Columbian Exposition (World's Fair) held in Chicago in 1893. Mrs. Theodore Thomas, wife of the conductor of the Chicago symphony, asked that clubs and singing societies throughout the United States to come to Chicago and sing together in a concert. From this came interest in uniting all these groups and in 1893 the National Federation of Music Clubs was founded.

There are 5,500 clubs located in every state of the union and the Districts of Columbia. Membership is more than 600,000.

Through unselfish devotion to the ministry of music, the national federation has raised musical standards all over the country and has given opportunities and encouragement to young musicians.

Spring Shoes Have Shuffled To Naked Look

By GAY PAULLEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—Shoes for spring have shuffled over to the naked look.

Designers have been the first to cut the sides of the new shoes lower, and resorted to cutouts, laces and straps to show off more of the feminine foot.

The sling back pump comes back in a number of variations, with the heel strap either spaghetti thin for the most open look or the wide sling which leaves only a strip of the heel showing.

Straps are used in countless ways, from the simple T-strap with a buckle to the criss-cross, halter and choker styles. There are also interesting webbing for evening, straps decorated with perforations, stichings or cutouts, and braided leather.

The Institute, representing manufacturers and retailers, an auxiliary member of the New York Couture group, an organization of fashion designers, concluded its 42nd semi-annual press week for vialing reporters.

It was a week of concentrated showings of all phases of spring and summer styles with another group—the American Designer series—also in the act simultaneously for the first time, bidding for attention of the fashion press.

The mule also is on the foot-ward scene with the completely open back, showing in evening shoes with western shaped heels and day time walkers with sturdy heel shapes.

Watch also for a return of the peep-toe pump in novel combinations of textures and colors. Combinations include navy with bone with brown, black patent with white suede, brushed with smooth leather, and smooth with embossed leather.

Turning to toes, the crescent is seen most often. Extremes are out and that goes for the pointed toe, said the institute. The open toe is in for casual wear and the institute said, "a word to the wise."

Furniture Talk

can be achieved in a room in a variety of ways.

One way is to use "mixed" or "muted" colors. A well-decorated room will have some change of color—but not in the same proportions.

You don't get "balance" by using equal parts of dark and light colors. For instance, orange, directly you would use smaller areas of dark against a lighter, lighter, background. Use your "brights" in small quantities, too, as in vivid decorative pillows or metal accents, such as brass.

You can achieve unity and balance through other devices. Try using lamps in pairs (not more than two pairs in any one room). Pair off a couple of handsome chairs, perhaps picking up a color used in the print on the sofa or in your draperies. Such tricks will provide unity and balance in a room of different periods.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, Feb. 15.—Born to-day, you seem to have the natural ability of a leader. Consequently, you must be in the projects you undertake, since others will follow your lead with full reliance on your judgment and very possibly none of their own.

This is a responsibility you cannot shirk. Trust to your own sense of right and wrong, and use your own knowledge of what will work and what won't.

Self-confidence is one of your strong points. It is this confidence that is your ability to solve not only your own but the problems of others that you may well be off more than you are in good stead in this regard. You have a natural understanding of the motives that drive people to do what they do, whether for good or for ill, you may have the ability to lead others in the right direction.

Villanova Team, Hayes Set Pace In Track Meet

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 15 (AP) — Villanova university's two-mile relay team set a world indoor record of 7:24.9, and Bob Hayes equalled his world indoor 70-yard dash mark in the Mason-Dixon Games tonight.

The relay was run over an eight-foot track, generally considered faster than the 11-foot track over which the same Villanova team established a mark of 7:26.4 in Boston earlier this winter.

The husky Hayes, of Florida A & M, matched the 63-second record time he set here last year.

Three world's indoor women's marks also were bettered. Wilma Dryden of Tennessee State posted a 75-second time in the 100-yard dash.

Mrs. Dryden and teammate Edith McQuinn both topped the world mark with separate 75-second performances in qualifying heats. Mrs. McQuinn was second in the final.

The old mark of 78 was set here in 1963 by Wilma Rudolph and matched here last year by Mrs. McQuinn and Julia Helms of Germany.

Tammy Davis, Fredericktown, Md., track club, posted a 70-yard hurdles record of 9.1 seconds.

Jo Ann Terry, Tennessee State, who set the record here in 1962, finished third in the event.

The Tiger Belles of Tennessee set a world indoor record of 47.5 seconds in the 400-yard relay.

Dallas Long, world record-holder of the 1600-yard race, 6:45 inches for his best effort of the season.

Kansas State's John Camien turned in a 4:02 mile, finishing with no one else in the 400-yard relay.

High jumper John Thomas cleared 6-foot, 10 inches in winning his event, the 400-yard relay, Thursday night to Low High of Southern California.

Finished third in the event, went 7-foot, 10 inches, for his top effort of the season.

In the pole vault, Villanova's Roland Cruz set a meet record of 13-feet, 9 inches.

Bob Schell, Ohio State, set a meet record in the two-mile run of 8:47.5.

Bill Corbett, Southern Illinois university, won the half-mile in 1:02.9, John Dunkelberger, who set a meet record here last year, was second.

FROM ALL ANGLES

Boise and Marsh Valley high schools are breaking into a new era in high school athletics. For Marsh Valley, it is definitely the best long-time football and basketball coach. Bill Matthews, who has coached at Burley, will not be born for a few more weeks. Although the B-Cate defeated Marsh Valley in the all-state final, South Central, which is hoping to win the state title, is hoping to win the state title. The thing that will force him out, then, is the high school pressure. It is high school pressure.

Catch Budge has long married up as the rapid way in which he can regain his composure after a game. During the game he can, and often is, the typical coaching word, bouncing up and down off the bench. The pressure of the game stays with him generally for several minutes after the final buzzer. But within a very short time—much shorter than any other—he appears outwardly at a calm. He is able to accept of accepting a defeat. It was quite surprising when Coach Budge noted he was under a doctor's care for high blood pressure. There is a lot of stress in the treatment, but Coach Budge will receive medical instructions to take even this bit of news well.

"I really don't know what I do—I do it to get out of coaching," he smiled. "I've been in it long but I just don't know what I'm doing." "You're shocked," "My wife teaches school so I wouldn't expect to be able to coach. I'm not sure I'm not going to give me something to do until I can't do it." "I don't want to get out of coaching just yet. I don't know for what this is a little long," he concluded.

Coach Budge has many ups and downs in his coaching career, but at Burley and elsewhere, it could be said that he was forced to retire from his coaching position before he was personally ready.

NCAA Seeks Federal Aid to Keep Pro Grid TV Off Friday Nights

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 15 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic association went on record today against television of professional football games on Friday nights during the 1964 season. The organization sent a telegram to all members of the judiciary committee of the U.S. senate to check whether the intention of the National Football league to televise five or six Friday night games was a violation of the federal antitrust law.

The NCAA action put it in full support of the position taken by the National Federation of State High School Athletic associations in opposition to the professional TV plan. The telegrams to the members of the senate committee were authorized by the NCAA's legislative and directorial committee.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said when the antitrust act of 1890 was passed the general philosophy "was that professional football should confine its telecasts to Sunday and not infringe upon college games on Saturday and in turn, college football should confine its telecasts to Saturday and not infringe upon high school games Friday night."

Byers said the NCAA football television plan which governs the telecasting activities of the 513 NCAA members, has specified that college football games be arranged for simultaneous telecasts of their games on Friday nights in areas where such telecasts would conflict with high school games being played locally.

He said the act specifies professional football games may not combine to televise their games on Friday night or Saturday from any telecasting station located within 15 miles of an intercollegiate football center. There is no reference to high school games in the act.

"The present NCAA action is that the professional football arrangement for Friday night telecasting of professional football is a contraction of the law as written because available evidence suggests a coordinated arrangement by the parties involved and a secret not to respect the blackout provisions of the law," Byers said.

"Beyond that, and of even greater importance, is the intentional violation of professional football to the estimated 10,000 high schools, the bulk of which play their games on Friday night."

The American Broadcasting company has indicated the five games slated to be telecast are not covered by the 1961 act because the games are being negotiated with individual clubs and not the National league.

The act also states an agreement with the Ford Motor

Glenn's Feels, despite a third week of flu fighting, stayed on top through much of the first half and was tied at 16-16 at the half. Then Eller, who finished with a 25-point kick, pumped through 20 points to lead the Kimberly Bulldogs past the Glenn's Feels 65-52.

Heavy Fouling Aids SMU's Win

FORT WORTH, Tex. Feb. 15 (AP)—Southern Methodist didn't start a field goal in the last 10 minutes of play today, but a steady stream of Mustangs to the field goal line, thwarted Texas Christian's furious comeback and gave the visitors an 85-72 Southwest conference victory.

SMU sank 44 of 116 free throw attempts in the final 10 minutes, which found TCU pulling to within six points before the rally died on the regionally televised game.

GETTING INCOMING mail into the correct postoffice box among the 1,100 at the local postoffice is a task which is slowed because many pieces of mail are incorrectly addressed. Here, Wayne Modlin, postal clerk, sorts the incoming mail. Postmaster Frederick Sanger estimates two to three per cent of the total clerk working hours are spent in trying to distribute mail that is incorrectly addressed. (Times-News photo)

Lack of Communication in Remote African Area Led T. F. Minister to Carving Hobby

Being in a spot where there were no newspapers, no television and where radio reception was so poor he was unable to hear much, did one thing for the Rev. Robert Jackson.

It taught him to relax when he had the chance. As a result he found that sculpturing in miniature brought relaxation he sought.

Now the pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in Twin Falls, the Rev. Mr. Jackson found the sculpturing relaxation he was serving in Africa.

For five years, he and his wife (both are registered nurses) were in the missionary field in Swaziland, located in the southeast part of the continent.

During the first two years the Rev. Mr. Jackson was in charge of out-patients at the hospital. The last three years they were "off by themselves," as he puts it.

Actually this is a statement aside from the true facts. He and his wife operated a small hospital where a medical doctor was available only one afternoon a month. In addition, they operated nine schools and 10 churches.

"It was during this time that he took up the carving hobby and his wife turned to oil painting."

Her paintings show the African countryside in which they resided. His sculpturing, from the carvings he made from soapstone or sandstone. The material was sawed out of a hillside nearby and was first in block form.

The head figure was first roughed in with a wood rasp. A pocket knife further improved the likeness and finally the surgical scalpel did the detail work, like putting the expression lines in the face which the work depicted.

After completion, the miniature likenesses of the natives were given several coats of varnish stain which provided a hard, smooth surface.

His collection of carvings even includes a likeness of a boy who put soap in his hair to bleach it.

While the result was pleasing to the Rev. Mr. Jackson and his wife, he admits today that the likeness seldom pleased the natives involved.

"Nevertheless—of how good—the likeness was," the Rev. Mr. Jackson said, "they never liked the finished product."

Other missionaries and friends liked his work and many busts were given away. Those he brought back with him to the United States are carefully wrapped in heavy cloth to protect them.

OIL PAINTINGS of African countryside by Mrs. Robert Jackson are displayed by her husband, the Rev. Mr. Jackson. Both acquired their hobbies while serving as missionaries in Africa. The miniature busts were made from soapstone or sandstone and each took the Rev. Mr. Jackson about a week to complete. Both took up their respective hobbies as a means of relaxation during their African stay. (Times-News photo)

THUMBING THROUGH a bunch of letters meant for box patrons at the Twin Falls postoffice, Postmaster Frederick Sanger finds about 80 per cent of it is incorrectly addressed. He urges businessmen, especially, to put their box numbers on all stationery and invoices, pointing out that a street address is not the correct one when mail is to be delivered to a box. (Times-News photo)

Incorrect Mail Address Is Postoffice Problem

Twin Falls is suffering from growing pains and the postoffice is suffering right along with the community.

The pains, according to Postmaster Fred Sanger, are not the result so much of the population gain, but rather that the quantity of mail means for postoffice boxes, but misaddressed, is growing by leaps and bounds.

"No doubt," he said, "some of the problems of misaddressed mail rest with the fact Twin Falls is in a period of change from a small town to a city."

"We are a city in the sense of the word that we are much too large a place for everyone to know everyone else," he declared.

Sanger declared an estimated two to three per cent of the total clerk and carrier working hours is used in marking up and re-handling mail that cannot be delivered as it is addressed.

"This extra handling represents an expense of several thousand dollars in our local postoffice operation, an unnecessary expenditure," he said.

He pointed out that a street address or business location is not a correct address for a patron receiving mail through a postoffice box. Cost of notifying people that the correct address is a box is not really great, Sanger said.

"The department even furnishes free cards which can be mailed to individuals, concerns or magazines," he noted.

"It is our belief that most of the problem of poorly addressed mail being delivered through postoffice boxes results from the fact that many boxholders do not show their postoffice box number as their mailing address on business stationery."

"If patrons consider it necessary also to show their location address on their stationery, that consideration should not disregard the importance of showing a postoffice box number," he said.

Americans Always Liked In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 15 (AP) — As far as Australians are concerned there's no such animal as the "Ugly American."

The Yanks, often pictured as puffed up with wealth and power, may not win popularity contests in Bangkok and Beirut, Zurich and Zanzibar, but the people love 'em in this broad, developing land of the tolas and kangaroos.

"All you need is an American accent and you get treated like a king," said a paunchy Pitt street pub keeper as he fanned the foam from a tankard of potent Australian beer. "All the sheilas start swooning. The blokes shoot another round of beer. Before you know it, you're humming 'The Star-Spangled Banner.'"

Australia is a distant branch of the British Commonwealth, in some respects loyal and deeply rooted in the British traditions, but it's getting to look and act more like a boldster's version of Uncle Sam.

"We are a lot closer to America (than England)—not only in our culture and habits," a young executive for a large Australian oil firm said, "but we wouldn't be surprised if some day we wind up as another of your states — what would we be, No. 51?"

"A talkative taxi driver — and they're all talkative while they find they get a fare from across the Pacific — put it another way he turned his back down Castlereight street in the heart of this bustling metropolis."

"I think we ought to quit singing 'God Save the Queen' and start singing 'God Save Australia,'" he said bluntly. "Our best friend is the United States, not John Bull."

In fairness, it must be said that this cab driver's viewpoint probably represents a small and disgruntled minority.

"If the Indonesians or the communist Chinese swept down on us as far as New Guinea. When we asked to bring our people back from North Africa to help defend the country, Eisenhower sent them."

Trip to Hawaii Results in Gift

Just returned from a three-week visit in Hawaii is Mrs. Ray Butler, Twin Falls, who has received a gift from the Hawaiian people. It is a sculpture by Kenneth Shutt, a noted West Coast sculptor, which will be the main piece of the new life park in Honolulu and is to be scientific and entertaining in nature.

It is located at Makapuu point on the base of a 1,000-foot cliff. It is a gift to her and her husband, who reside at 625 Second avenue west.

The new park is located on the opposite side of the island from Honolulu and is to be scientific and entertaining in nature.

It is located at Makapuu point on the base of a 1,000-foot cliff. It is a gift to her and her husband, who reside at 625 Second avenue west.

Although all buildings and exhibits are not yet complete, scheduled opening is set for this month. It is the brainchild of Taylor A. Pryor, a young executive and promoter who first visited the islands as a marine corps flier. He holds a Ph.D. degree in marine biology.

It was Pryor who commissioned Shutt to create the piece of sculpture on which he now is working.

A free lance sculptor from Manhattan Beach, Calif., he had gained a reputation even before receiving the Hawaiian commission.

The sculpture will be approximately 20 feet high when completed and will feature life-size figures of skin divers, with a base and background of coral rock.

The base is being constructed at his home in Kaneohe and will Continued on Page 23

Farm Bureau Class Starts At Shoshone

SHOSHONE, Feb. 15 — The first of a series of lessons entitled "Liberty vs. Oppression" was presented Wednesday night at the Shoshone under sponsorship of the Farm Bureau. Orval Thompson, Twin Falls district representative, was instructor for the first lesson. There will be five such lessons in the course with a different instructor each week.

The meetings will be held at 8 p.m. each Wednesday at the Shoshone and members are solicited. High school students are admitted free. There is a $1 charge for adults.

There were two films and slides with narration in the presentation Monday night on the subject, "The Battle Ahead." This session gave attention to the world conflict between freedom and regimentation.

The historic growth of communism was presented. Emphasis was given that man's creative and productive genius can only thrive in a climate of freedom. The subject next week is "The structure of the American way of life."

Block Fence Built to Calm Fears

PARANARIBO, Surinam, Feb. 15 — Hiding the modest one-story residence of Surinam's prime minister is a high newly built wall of concrete blocks, broken glass imbedded at the top.

Lounging against the wall, three or four men in sport shirts and slacks eye suspiciously all who pass on foot or in car. They are police.

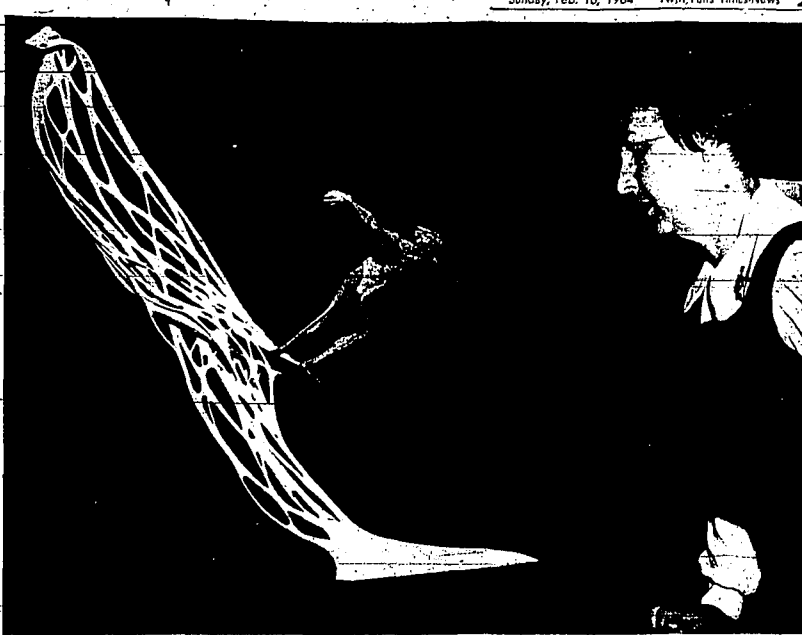

John Adolf Pengel had the wall built, he says, to keep out enemies who want to kill him. Communists especially. Bunk, his critics scoff. Nobody wants to assassinate the minister-president of this tropical Dutch territory on the northeast coast of South America, they say. The life of his coalition government is in greater danger than his own.

But in the distant future of Surinam some of its leaders do see the possible menace of communist unless political stability is maintained for its peaceful, industrious, cheerful population of 350,000 inhabitants whose skins are mainly black, brown or yellow.

Whether Pengel, 48, fat Creole political boss of African ancestry, has the executive ability to stay in power is the issue right now. The opposition says he doesn't.

Opposition leaders predict a breakdown of government, making new elections necessary within three months unless the administration becomes more efficient. Some of his own cabinet members are asking him for stronger leadership at the same time others profess to have no opinion.

Not any anybody fears a one-party dictatorship here — the population is divided among a dozen parties on racial and re-

IMAGINATIVE FIGURE on a surf board, riding a great white wave, is admired by Mrs. Ray (Virginia) Butler, Twin Falls, who received it as a gift from her sculptor son-in-law, Kenneth Shutt, while she was in Hawaii. The son-in-law has been commissioned to do the main piece of sculpture for the new sea life park being built on the opposite side of the island from Honolulu.

Hippos, lions, Negro and Asiatic, Roman Catholic, Protestant, Hindu, Moslem. What a scene some is an apparent attempt to silence critics.

Pengel is trying to be a one-man band, they say, as minister-president, minister of general affairs, minister of interior, minister of finance, boss of the National party and boss of the 28-union labor federation he organized in 1950.

Pengel's party has only 14 of the 36 seats in the assembly, hence the necessity for a coalition. With those of the Indonesian party led by Odeng Soemita and the United Hindustani party of Jagannath Lichman, the government has been able to command 28 votes.

Boy Hurt

RICHFIELD, Feb. 15 — Joey Parker, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jody Parker, received a severe cut above his left eye, and a bruise on his forehead, Wednesday afternoon in a fall at his home.

The boy slid on ice in his back yard and struck an oil can, causing the injury. He was rushed to Shoshone for medical treatment and to doctors were taken to close the cut.

Original Sculpture Piece Is Gift to Local Woman During Visit to Hawaii

Shutt's wife is the former Pat Butler, a 1958 graduate of Twin Falls high school. She and the children are with Shutt at Kaneohe during the work.

Mrs. Butler made the trip to Hawaii, both ways, by air. The trip there was from Los Angeles, while the return trip was through Seattle. All flights were by jet.

"It seemed you were just in the air when it was time to land. The speed is terrific," she said. She was gone from Twin Falls more than three weeks.

She declared living in the part of the island where her daughter and son-in-law and family reside is "out of this world." Her only concern during the entire trip came when she arrived at Seattle.

The piece of sculpture Ken had given to my husband and me as a gift was supposed to be on the plane. The only trouble was it became lost somewhere and relieved," she said.

"I had to return to Twin Falls. The new park in Hawaii, she said, was just returned from a three-week visit. Her daughter, Pat, is a 1958 graduate of the local high school. Mr. and Mrs. Shutt and children live at Kaneohe. (Times-News photo)

ATTENTION ALL TAXPAYERS

Again this year the federal government is attempting to put through Wheat Legislation contrary to the best interest of All Idaho Taxpayers.

SIGN THIS ADV.

Mail It To The Farm Bureau Office
191 Addison Ave., Twin Falls, Idaho

By Tuesday, February 18th

PETITION

We believe the overwhelming "NO" vote in the wheat referendum in 1963, was a clear cut expression of the farmers mandate to move away from strict government controls toward a free market system.

Therefore any legislation which embodies a certificate or two-price plan or a compensatory payment plan, does not comply with the mandate of the majority of this nation's farmers.

We, the undersigned, citizens, therefore, petition the administration to consider only wheat or similar legislation that clearly brings to an end, strict acreage and marketing controls and support programs.

SUN VALLEY, Feb. 20. Old-time railroaders would doubt it—but there is a roundhouse on Bald mountain, the well-known ski area on Bald mountain.

To the oldtimers—a roundhouse? No. But to the younger, the "iron horses" were parked at an angle, and over open plains, a few miles from the town.

The Roundhouse on Bald mountain is nothing like that. It is a small, one-story building, wanted a place to eat and take a briefing first before going into the mountains.

When first constructed it was round. Now, however, an addition has spoiled this feature, but the round part remains.

Bigger than standard lodge buildings at many resorts, the Roundhouse is a place where you can eat and bring resting place. The Bald mountain is a majestic Bald mountain while down, in one direction, the town of Ketchikan, Alaska, is a mile away, the other is the white paper.

For skiers who use the Bald mountain runs make a stop at the Roundhouse, Movie and TV sales, rulers of foreign nations, and the United States government—all have visited there. Most people ski down, but some ski up. The Roundhouse has the lift chairs go down as well as up, officials point out.

There is a small room here, heated for lunch or a snack at the same time.

The Roundhouse on Bald mountain is the warming hut, which again cannot be termed alms.

For skiers who wish to arrive the same way as does the food at the Roundhouse—by ski lift.

Here, however, only skiers gather because those without ski cannot ride the lift from the lower Roundhouse to the top.

BECAUSE RAVIL AND OTTINO ARE ONE AND THE SAME!

WHAT FIRST GAVE YOU AWAY, RAVIL, WAS THAT YOUR SECRETARY NEVER SAW YOU AND OTTINO TOGETHER. THEN THERE WAS THAT STATEMENT YOU WROTE TESTIFYING TO HIS APPARENT DEATH IN THE ACCIDENT.

WH-WHAT DO YOU MEAN? THE MEMO I FOUND IN OTTINO'S SUITE WAS WRITTEN BY YOU! YOU ATTEMPTED TO DISGUISE THE WRITING, BUT YOU FORGOT AND CIRCLED THE DOTS OVER THE 'S'.

IN THE STATEMENT YOU WROTE AT THE NOTARY'S, YOU CIRCLED THE DOTS AGAIN!

ASSUMING I WERE RAVIL, WHY WOULD I RISK HIRING A PRIVATE DETECTIVE?

TO ASSUME THE ROLE OF THE RIGHTEOUS PARTNER--A PARTNER WHO REALLY STOOD UP TO COVER THE THEFT, AND ANOTHER $100,000 ON OTTINO'S LIFE!

IN ALL, YOU'D HAVE COME OUT WITH $50,000, ANOTHER $200,000 WORTH OF RARE ART OBJECTS, AND SMELLING LIKE A ROSE!

YOU'RE INSANE, FLINT!

AM I? HERE, GROWL, STUDY THIS: RAVIL.

YEAH--GO--?

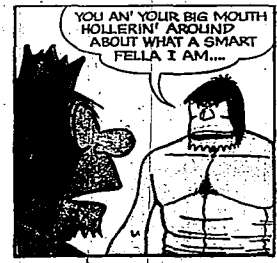

RAVIL STANDS ABOUT TWO INCHES SHORTER THAN OTTINO, IS HOLLOW-CHEEKED, BALD AND CLEAN-SHAVEN--RIGHT?

YEAH, YEAH--GO ON--

NOW OTTINO, AND--VOILA!--NOW RAVIL.

PERHAPS MR. RAVIL WILL OBLIGE US BY REMOVING THE SPONGE PADDING FROM HIS CHEEKS AND THE ELEVATOR SHOES HE'S WEARING!

YOU AN' YOUR BIG MOUTH HOLLERIN' ABOUT WHAT A SMART FELLA I AM...

...MAKIN' ME TH' LAUGHING-STOCK OF TH' COUNTRY! HAS WHAT I'M TALKIN' ABOUT!

EVERYBODY KNOWS I AIN'T GOT ANY BRAINS!

AW, NOW THAT'S JUST NOT SO! YOU'RE ONE OF TH' SMARTEST GUY'S IN ALL MOO!

I AIN'T NEITHER!

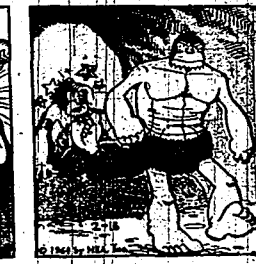

OH, YES YOU ARE!

YEH? DO YOU THINK A GUY WITH ANY BAINS WOULD HIT HIS KING ON TH' NOSE?

OF COURSE NOT! WHO'D DOPE WOULD DO THAT!

HEY, MOM! MR. AND MRS. FINKLE JUST HAD A TERRIBLE FIGHT!

DAVEY!!

OH, DEAR! HE LOOKS SO DEJECTED AND CRESTFALLEN—MAYBE I BROKE HIM TOO MUCH TO HIM!

PERHAPS I WAS A BIT HARSH, THOUGH...

I THINK TOO, NEBBIE. YOU WERE, MYNEM!

YOU COULDN'T AT LEAST WAIT TILL WE LEARNED WHAT HE DID AT THE...

BUT...

NO, BUT I'M DAMNED SURE HE DID SOMETHING TO SPILL A WHOLE EVENING FOR ME!

THE NEXT TIME FREDDIE HORVATH PHONES ME, DON'T TELL HIM I WANT TO HOME WHEN YOU DON'T KNOW WHETHER I AM OR NOT!

YOU DIDN'T BOTHER TO LOOK UP MY ROOM—I WAS ON THE BED READING! YOU SPOILED A HORRIBLE TOOTH-SOMEWHAT GOOD DATE!

SAME OLD STORY...

FOR GOODNESS SAKE, WHAT ARE YOU DOING DOWN HERE?

WHEN DO WE EAT BREAKFAST?

EAT BREAKFAST? WHY, IN ABOUT SEVEN HOURS! IT'S JUST PAST MIDNIGHT! I THOUGHT YOU WERE IN BED!

MIDNIGHT? WELL, THEN, WHAT WAS THE BIG DEAL?

WHAT BIG IDEA?

OF YANKING ME OUT OF BED, LIKE YOU DO EVERY MORNINGS!
